Self-sacrificing Love

Within a decade after the end of the Second Vatican Council an astonishing array of liturgical rites had been revised and adopted. Among them was the marriage rite. There may be room for regret that the new ceremony did not keep the exhortation that used to be read. Here's a tiny excerpt that speaks about self-sacrificing love in marriage, concluding with a quote in archaic language. It is worth wondering how its wisdom relates to the daring generosity of the two widows we encounter in today's readings, along with Jesus himself.

"Henceforth, you will belong entirely to each other; you will be one in mind, one in heart, and one in affections. And whatever sacrifices you may hereafter be required to make to preserve this common life, always make them generously. Sacrifice is usually difficult and irksome. Only love can make it easy; and perfect love can make it a joy ... God so loved the World that He gave His only begotten Son; and the Son so loved us that He gave Himself for our salvation. 'Greater love than this no man hath, that a man lay down his life for his friends.'"

Fr Peter, Fr David, Parish Council Members and Parishioners, extend a very warm welcome to the Dominican Provincial, Fr Kevin Saunders OP, as we celebrate the opening of the 800th celebration of the Dominican Order. We also extend a warm welcome to Fr Joss Breen OP who will be con-celebrating Mass on Saturday.

Car Park Theft

A car parked in the carpark was broken into on Wednesday between 3 & 3.30pm. You are reminded to not leave any valuables in your car which might attract unwanted attention from passers-by!

Please note: There will be no 7 am Mass on Thursday 12th and Friday 13th November.

Saint of the Week St Josaphat, Bishop, Martyr

St Josaphat was born in Lithuania about 1580 into a Catholic family and early on promoted Catholic unity in a country divided between Orthodox and Catholic. He entered the Byzantine monastery of Holy Trinity in Vilna in 1604 and was elected Catholic archbishop of Polotsk in 1614. While clinging firmly to unity with Rome, he firmly opposed those Latins who saw unity only in Latin terms and would suppress Byzantine traditions in the name of Catholic unity. He firmly opposed the Latinization of his people and made enemies and severe critics among the Latin clergy of Poland.

Politically, the Catholic and Orthodox clergy were rivals in Lithuania, and the archbishopric of Polotsk was one of the contested sees. An Orthodox archbishop of Polotsk was appointed, and Josaphat was accused of taking office invalidly. Many of his Byzantine Catholics were won over to allegiance to Orthodoxy. Even the king of Poland wavered in his support of Josaphat, especially when Polish bishops accused him of betraying his faith by not Latinising his diocese.

One of the hotbeds of trouble in Josaphat's diocese was Vitebsk, and in November of 1623 he went there to bring about peace in his flock, preaching in the churches and trying to reconcile differences. On November 12, a mob broke into the house where he was staying, shouting hatred and violence. When he confronted them, he was struck in the head with a halberd and shot. His mangled body was dragged out and thrown into the river. He was canonised by Pope Pius IX in 1867.

Parish Ministries: Dominican Laity

The Dominican Laity is a group of dedicated followers of St Dominic's example while living and working in the secular world. Organised in chapters, the Dominic Laity has been active in our parish for 40 to 50 years, working alongside the Dominican religious orders.

Our parish group meets monthly to pray, read the New Testament and generally help each other with faith development. Its members also enjoy regular social contact with the Dominican priests and nuns.

The group is guided by a simple, joyous, down-to-earth spirituality centred on God's grace and mercy. It aims to foster a richer relationship with God in its own ranks and to share that with the wider community. Much effort goes into praying for the work of the Church and the Dominican Order in spreading the Gospel message.

To join or find out more about the Dominican Laity, contact Terry Cole on 94099616 and email tjpecole@bigpond.com or June Ross on 93443287 and email june.ross99@gmail.com
