SEVENTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Because of the brevity of Mark's gospel, the framers of the lectionary have inserted a series of five readings from the sixth chapter of John's gospel over the next five weeks.

Those who will derive most benefit from this interlude are those who are familiar with the Old Testament stories and themes that lie behind the episode. John assumes that his readers will know the story of Israel's exodus from Egypt, their journey through the desert, their being fed with both manna and the word of God, and the meaning of the Passover celebration.

There are other connections with Old Testament traditions such as Elisha's feeding of the prophets and the banquet given by Wisdom. Perhaps these five Sundays will prompt you to delve a little more into the books of the Jewish scriptures. They shaped the faith of Jesus, they continue to inspire our Jewish brothers and sisters, and they illuminate all that we believe and hope for.

A READING FROM THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO JOHN

Jesus went off to the other side of the Sea of Galilee - or of Tiberias - and a large crowd followed him, impressed by the signs he gave by curing the sick. Jesus climbed the hillside, and sat down there with his disciples. It was shortly before the Jewish feast of passover.

Looking up, Jesus saw the crowds approaching and said to Philip, 'Where can we buy some bread for these people to eat?' He only said this to test Philip; he himself knew exactly what he was going to do. Philip answered, 'Two hundred denarii would only buy enough to give them a small piece each' One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said, 'There is a small boy here with five barley loaves and two fish; but what is that between so many?' Jesus said to them, 'Make the people sit down.' There was plenty of grass there, and as many as five thousand men sat down. Then Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks and gave them out to all who were sitting ready; he then did the same with the fish, giving out as much as was wanted. When they had eaten enough he said to the disciples, 'Pick up the pieces left over, so that nothing gets wasted.' So they picked them up and filled twelve hampers with scraps left over from the meal of five barley loaves. The people, seeing this sign that he had given, said, 'This really is the prophet who is to come into the world.' Jesus, who could see they were about to come and take him by force and make him king, escaped back to the hills by himself.

COMMENTARY ON THE GOSPEL

The story of the feeding of the crowd is the only miracle story common to all four gospels, and two versions are to be found in Matthew and in Mark. John alone identifies the crowd's motivation: "because they saw the signs that he was doing for the sick". John situates the event on a hillside, connects it with the Passover, and specifies the names of Philip and Andrew. As he tells it, Jesus does not break the bread for the disciples to distribute but proceeds with the distribution of the loaves and the fish himself. Only John comments that Jesus had to flee because of the messianic expectations his actions aroused. While there are parallels with the story of Elisha feeding the men with barley loaves and having some left over, there are also links with the story of the exodus and the manna in the desert.

THE EUCHARIST

“We must always bear in mind that the Eucharist is not something we do. It is not our own commemoration of what Jesus said and did. No. It is precisely an act of Christ! It is Christ who acts there, who is on the altar. It is a gift of Christ, who makes himself present and gathers us around him, to nourish us with his Word and with his life.”
