TWENTY-SEVENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

What makes a good leader? is it a gift, a charism, that some people have and others don't? Is it an art that can be acquired? Within the Church there's plenty of talk about servant-leadership. Those who are ordained to ministry or entrusted with high office can hardly forget what Jesus had to say about himself: "... the Son of Man himself did not come to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45) This saying of Jesus may seem to call Christian leaders to be lowly, unobtrusive and self-effacing. But Jesus was none of these things. He was powerful, provocative and prophetic, never a person to be ignored or overlooked. Yet he was truly a servant — a servant-leader whose whole being was on fire with passion for the reign of God. This is the key to his servant-leadership — his complete freedom from self-interest. The authority that impressed the crowds time and again was the authority of his authenticity. Like the tunic taken from him on Calvary, his life was seamless, it was all of a piece. If we are to emulate him, we may need to prayerfully take to heart the words addressed to deacons when they are ordained: "Believe what you read, teach what you believe, and practise what you teach."

A READING FROM THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

The apostles said to the Lord, 'Increase our faith.' The Lord replied, 'Were your faith the size of a mustard seed you could say to this mulberry tree, "Be uprooted and planted in the sea," and it would obey you.

'Which of you, with a servant ploughing or minding sheep, would say to him when he returned from the fields, "Come and have your meal immediately?" Would he not be more likely to say, "Get my supper laid; make yourself tidy and wait on me while I eat and drink. You can eat and drink yourself afterwards"? Must he be grateful to the servant for doing what he was told? So with you: when you have done all you have been told to do, say, "We are merely servants: we have done no more than our duty.

COMMENTARY ON THE GOSPEL

Jesus never exploits his powers in order to impress an audience with wonder-working phenomena. He explicitly repudiates this kind of action when tempted by Satan to change stones into bread, so he can hardly be encouraging his disciples to literally move mulberry trees or mountains. Rather he is daring them to let go of their fearful and sceptical mindsets and enter in to the realm of divine power where all things are possible to God.

The second part of the reading sounds harsh. It sounds as if Jesus is almost contemptuously relegating his disciples to the role of slaves. What he has to say here needs to be interpreted in the light of other teaching. Didn't Jesus tell a story about a master who when he finds his servants ready for him turns around and serves them instead? And later on doesn't he talk about himself as one who serves? It is more likely that these sayings of Jesus were retained in the gospel as a warning to Christian leaders not to get caught up in their own self-importance. Leadership, for Jesus, is always a service, not a prize.

The Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary 7 October

Known for several centuries by the alternate title of "Our Lady of Victory," the feast day takes place in honour of a 16th century naval victory which secured Europe against Turkish invasion. Pope St. Pius V attributed the victory to the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary, who was invoked on the day of the battle through a campaign to pray the Rosary throughout Europe.

Troops of the Turkish Ottoman Empire had invaded and occupied the Byzantine empire by 1453, bringing a large portion of the increasingly divided Christian world under a version of Islamic law. For the next hundred years, the Turks expanded their empire westward on land, and asserted their naval power in the Mediterranean. In 1565 they attacked Malta, envisioning an eventual invasion of Rome. Though repelled at Malta, the Turks captured Cyprus in the fall of 1570.

The next year, three Catholic powers on the continent – Genoa, Spain, and the Papal States – formed an alliance called the Holy League, to defend their Christian civilization against Turkish invasion. Its fleets sailed to confront the Turks near the west coast of Greece on October 7, 1571.

Crew members on more than 200 ships prayed the Rosary in preparation for the battle – as did Christians throughout Europe, encouraged by the Pope to gather in their churches to invoke the Virgin Mary against the daunting Turkish forces.

Some accounts say that Pope Pius V was granted a miraculous vision of the Holy League's stunning victory. Without a doubt, the Pope understood the significance of the day's events, when he was eventually informed that all but 13 of the nearly 300 Turkish ships had been captured or sunk. He was moved to institute the feast now celebrated universally as "Our Lady of the Rosary".

Military historian John F. Guilmartin, Jr wrote - "Turkish victory at Lepanto would have been a catastrophe of the first magnitude for Christendom, and Europe would have followed a historical trajectory strikingly different from that which obtained." [Catholic Newsagency.com]

JUNE O'CONNOR SCHOLARSHIP

The estate of the late June O'Connor has established a Scholarship of $1,000 per year to be awarded annually on a six yearly basis. Commencing 2020 the Scholarship will allow the recipient to complete years 7 to 12 in a Catholic Secondary College, given satisfactory performance by the recipient. The recipient will be a member of the Doubleview, City Beach, Karrinyup/Innaloo, Scarborough or Floreat/Wembley Parish, currently attending a Catholic Primary or Secondary school and have the support of their Parish Priest.

A letter expressing interest and marked "June O'Connor Scholarship" should be emailed to Julie Fuge: julie.fuge@perthcatholic.or.au by Friday 18 October 2019. The letter should contain the student's details, current school and parish together with their proposed Catholic Secondary College for 2020. Any enquiries can be made to Julie Fuge on 6104 3600

MELBOURNE CUP

LUNCHEON

TUESDAY
5 NOVEMBER 2019

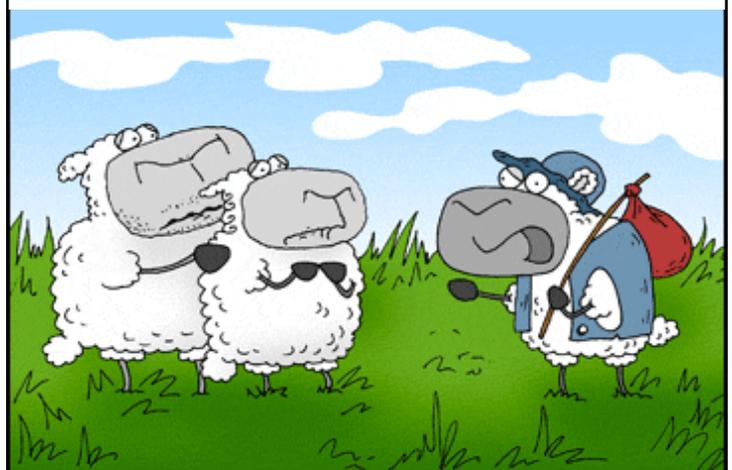

Do you want to try something different for the Cup this year?

Then come along to lunch with fellow parishioners at the Rosary Community Centre.

It will be a casual affair so you won't have to rush out and buy a 'fancy' outfit or hat!

Let Kaye know whether you will be bringing a sweet or savoury plate to share.

REVERENDFUN

Stop making such a big deal ... I'm young ... going astray is just something I need to do.
