A READING FROM THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK

Jesus showed himself to the Eleven, and said to them, 'Go out to the whole world, proclaim the Good News to all creation. He who believes and is baptised will be saved; he who does not believe will be condemned. These are the signs that will be associated with believers: in my name they will cast out devils; they will have the gift of tongues; they will pick up snakes in their hands, and be unharmed should they drink deadly poison; they will lay their hands on the sick, who will recover.'

And so the Lord Jesus, after he had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven: there at the right hand of God he took his place, while they, going out, preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word by the signs that accompanied it.

COMMENTARY ON THE GOSPEL

Today the gospel reading consists of the concluding verses of what is called the "longer ending" of Mark's gospel. It is worth noting that today's reading begins with the first part of verse 14 ("Jesus showed himself to the Eleven") but omits the rest of the verse in which Jesus reproaches them "for the incredulity and obstinacy because they had refused to believe ...". This seems a pity given the emphasis Mark puts on the disciples' unbelief throughout his gospel.

The text as it stands is impressively assertive. In spite of their reluctance to believe, the disciples are commissioned to go forth and proclaim the gospel "to the whole creation". They are assured that the preaching will be accompanied by powerful signs. Mark devotes but a single sentence to Jesus' ascension; his focus is on the earthly mission of the disciples. It is as if Jesus had to withdraw to allow the mission to succeed.

Caritas Australia launches appeal for India

Caritas Australia has launched an appeal to help support vulnerable communities in India as COVID-19 cases in the country continue to climb.

India's COVID-19 infections have surged past 20 million, nearly doubling in the past four months – marking the biggest increase in COVID-19 infections globally.

The country of nearly 1.4 billion people has a staggering 3.45 million active cases, although experts warn that actual numbers could be five to ten times higher than those reported.

The enormous second wave has had a devastating impact on India's healthcare system, with widespread shortages of hospital beds and oxygen.

If you can help with this appeal please go to caritas.org.au
