A READING FROM THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

Jesus told a parable to his disciples, 'Can one blind man guide another? Surely both will fall into a pit? The disciple is not superior to his teacher; the fully trained disciple will always be like his teacher. Why do you observe the splinter in your brother's eye and never notice the plank in your own? How can you say to your brother, "Brother, let me take out the splinter that is in your eye," when you cannot see the plank in your own? Hypocrite! Take the plank out of your own eye first, and then you will see clearly enough to take out the splinter that is in your brother's eye.

'There is no sound tree that produces rotten fruit, nor again a rotten tree that produces sound fruit. For every tree can be told by its own fruit: people do not pick figs from thorns, nor gather grapes from brambles. A good man draws what is good from the store of goodness in his heart; a bad man draws what is bad from the store of badness. For a man's words flow out of what fills his heart.'

COMMENTARY ON THE GOSPEL

Luke strings elements of Jesus' teaching together without attempting to unify them smoothly. The first two are very short. One is an easily pictured scene of a blind person leading another into a ditch, the other, a saying about the relationship between disciples and masters. The next is longer. It plays in an exaggerated way with the idea of splinters and planks in the eye in order to expose the evil of hypocrisy. Finally a connection with the first reading and psalm is established via wisdom sayings about trees and plants, the fruit they may or may not bear, and how this image can be applied to human living.

Presumably all this wisdom was common currency in Jesus' day. There are no specific indications that Jesus had taken and reworked it, though exposing and condemning hypocrisy was clearly a particular concern of his.

Lenten Leisure

Presented by Sr Margaret Scharf OP, D Min

Director

Dominican Institute for Spirituality

Lent is a wonderful season of the Christian year when we are invited to think more about the great love of Jesus and His journey to the cross and beyond to Resurrection. It can become a time when Christians "give up" goodies and take on holy practices. We start off well and then find ourselves struggling to hold to our commitments!

What would be another way of looking at Lent; one which may lead to a deeper experience of the mystery of God's great love for us; one that is not so much about more "doing" as it would be about the quality of "being" before God?

Join us for an evening reflection on Lent through the lens of Sabbath
