A READING FROM THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

Peter went up to Jesus and said 'Lord, how often must I forgive my brother if he wrongs me? As often as seven times?' Jesus answered, 'Not seven, I tell you, but seventy-seven times.

'And so the kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who decided to settle his accounts with his servants. When the reckoning began, they brought him a man who owed ten thousand talents; but he had no means of paying, so his master gave orders that he should be sold, together with his wife and children and all his possessions, to meet the debt. At this, the servant threw himself down at his master's feet. "Give me time," he said, "and I will pay the whole sum." And the servant's master felt so sorry for him that he let him go and cancelled the debt. Now as this servant went out, he happened to meet a fellow servant who owed him one hundred denarii; and he seized him by the throat and began to throttle him. "Pay what you owe me," he said. His fellow servant fell at his feet and implored him, saying, "Give me time and I will pay you." But the other would not agree; on the contrary, he had him thrown into prison till he should pay the debt. His fellow servants were deeply distressed when they saw what had happened, and they went to their master and reported the whole affair to him. Then the master sent for him. "You wicked servant," he said, "I cancelled all that debt of yours when you appealed to me. Were you not bound, then, to have pity on your fellow servant just as I had pity on you?" And in his anger the master handed him over to the torturers till he should pay all his debt. And that is how my heavenly Father will deal with you unless you each forgive your brother from your heart.

COMMENTARY ON THE GOSPEL

Dear Parishioners and Visitors,

We have all heard a version of the saying that the beating of the wings of a single butterfly causes reverberations in outer space. It makes sense when you think about it. Today's readings lead us to reflect that in a comparable way everything each one of us does or says influences everyone else. This too makes sense when we think about it.

It can lead us to reflect that we are all in fact a single body – Paul calls it the body of Christ on earth. As various parts of the same body, how could we not influence and be influenced by all the other members of the body.

St Paul tried very hard to help his hearers understand that all the differences between them, differences of colour, language, culture, gender, political affiliation – all human differences – pale into insignificance before the unity established among them by their single relationship to Christ. It was and is a glorious vision that today's readings invite us to share more deeply.

One of the practical consequences of this vision might be that we all see ourselves as people who have received forgiveness and for whom forgiveness is always available. This too binds us to each other and makes nonsense of a refusal to forgive others.

Don't necessarily identify the last verse of the Gospel as the words of Jesus. The point there is that human un-forgiveness creates a barrier to sharing the life of God. To forgive "from the heart", as the Gospel requires, is itself a gift of grace and can sometimes be a lifetime challenge.

So today we are meant to be going back to our homes with a heightened awareness of the bonds that unite us in the kingdom of God and the body of Christ, and one of the greatest of these is that we are a forgiven people. For us to refuse to forgive is to deny who we really are, and it is what we are in Christ that we come to the Eucharist to celebrate.

PARISH PLANNING FORUM

Last Saturday, 9 September, marked another step in the development of our Parish Pastoral Plan, building on the outcomes from the August 2022 parish survey. A group of 25 parishioners, representing various parish ministries, came together for a planning forum, facilitated by Jenny Hoffman, from BlueHelix Consulting. Jenny led the group through a number of interactive activities to identify our key focus areas and strategies for the next few years. The Parish Council will further develop the plan over coming months and hope to present some information at the Parish AGM later in the year.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT!

Below is an email received from a parishioner after 10am Mass last Sunday. One of the priorities in our Parish is to engage young people and this feedback is something for us all to consider.

"... I am sure there is not a regular parishioner who would disagree that young people in our parish community are so important.

Today was a commitment mass for the sacrament of Holy Communion, a unique opportunity to celebrate young people that are actively engaging in our Parish. Fr Peter invites the children and their parents onto the altar so that our Parish community can pray for them and make them feel welcome. The joy and smiles on many parishioners' faces as they participate in this blessing is magnificent and as a parent who is going through another sacrament for my child, it is just wonderful.

Today, and over the last few years, every time this happens there are at least 20 regular parishioners who walk out before or during this blessing. They literally turn their backs on these children and their families and walk out. As an aside, the Mass is not actually finished either and it takes 3 minutes.

Our priests and the Parish Council can do all they can for engaging young people, all the Children's Liturgy we want, but if this is going to be how welcoming our parish is to young families, then most efforts will be futile. We would love these children to actively join our community and we lament that many of them don't come back. This is just something I believe is really important to get right from our entire parish community."
